Beka Call

I graduated from Utah State University with a Bachelor of Science in Family, Consumer, Human Development with an emphasis on Family and Community Services. I fell in love with early childhood in college working at an amazing in-home daycare. I have since spent time working in a variety of child welfare and early childhood programs. I have worked as a Therapeutic Preschool Specialist at the Children's Center, as an ongoing caseworker for DCFS, and as a preschool teacher at the JCC Early Childhood Center.

I am so excited to be working at the Children's Service Society! I am looking forward to bridging the gap between Utah employers and child care providers. As a new mother, I value quality child care. I look forward to helping these relationships grow between employers and working families.

Amariah Gibbs

Graduated with a BSN from Eastern Washington University in 2014. My favorite subjects are behavioral psychology and sociology.

In college, I started my career as an early intervention teacher at Northwest Domino Autism Center. I moved from Washington State to Utah in 2015 and served in AmeriCorps with Playworks. After two years of service, I moved to Heber City, UT, and worked as a lead infant teacher and was promoted to director. In 2018 I became the regional anchor for the CCQS Grant with Children's Service Society.

For fun, I love to play in the snow with my two dogs and explore our national parks.

I am looking forward to helping foster employer relationships with local childcare facilities and serving the great state of Utah once again with the Children's Service Society.
